

GIVING THROUGH YOUR WILL OR TRUST

Important Facts for You to Know

- You can give a gift through your will at any age.
- Giving a gift through your will costs you nothing. You can keep your assets while you are alive.
- You can change your mind (or revoke) at any time.
- You have several options regarding how to include River Edge Foundation as a beneficiary of your will or trust.

You and your attorney can adapt any of the possible language below to fit your bequest desires.

Specific Gift

If you would like to leave a specific gift or a percentage of your estate to River Edge Foundation, consider the following language.

“I give, devise, and bequeath _____% of my estate (or the sum of $_____) to River Edge Foundation, a 501(c)(3) registered nonprofit organized and existing under the laws of Georgia, for its unrestricted use and purpose to benefit the mission of River Edge Foundation.”

Residuary Gift

A residuary gift is a good option if you would like to leave River Edge Foundation what's left after your estate plan has provided for your loved ones. The language below may prove helpful:

“I give, devise, and bequeath all the rest, residue, and remainder of my property, both real and personal, to River Edge Foundation, a registered nonprofit located in Georgia, for its unrestricted use and purposes to benefit the mission of River Edge Foundation”

Contingent Gift

If you would like to leave your estate to River Edge Foundation only in the event that you outlive your family and friends, you can work with your advisors to create a contingent gift.

For all legal purposes, please use the following:

River Edge Foundation
277 Martin Luther King, Jr. Blvd, Suite 102A
Macon, GA 31201. Tax ID#: 20-5794390

When you plan to include River Edge Foundation in your will or trust,
please tell:

Why is it important to notify River Edge Foundation of your intentions?

We can likely help you structure your gift in the most personally satisfying way for you.

We want to recognize and steward your gift as you deserve.

We want to assure your wishes are carried out.

Your gift can inspire others to also ensure their legacies by giving so meaningfully.
